

Hi!

I've found a great website that has FREE games and is very kidsafe, but it's very different from the other websites. It's called "Jandeo".

This website lets you to setup chores and behaviors you want me to work on, and it tracks how well I do them to earn allowance and rewards. It also helps you remember important activities like reading the bible with me and praying as a family.

It is the easiest, most rewarding way to help you purposely plan my development and teach me good behavior and habits. It also helps ensure you won't forget my allowance!

Since I really want to grow up smart like you, I'd really like to try it out. It costs as little as $7.38 per month, and registration is EASY.

I need your permission to be able to join, so please take a look when you have a chance.

The site is:

I Love You, and I thank you for spending time to teach me.
